Emma Zankoul

A Notre Dame Academy senior balancing tennis, leadership, and big dreams

WRITTEN BY LEDGEVIEW RESIDENT AND FRIEND MISHA NARENDRA

Emma Zankoul is a senior at Notre Dame Academy High School.

She loves playing tennis and traveling for fun. Her experience in high school has been great, and she encourages others to try hard to reach their goals and put your mind to it. Her favorite subject is math because it makes the most sense to her. She looks at hard problems as a puzzle she tries to piece together. Emma is involved in JV Tennis in the fall, which she found was super fun to meet people. She also is the leader of the Medicine Club where we learn more about this scientific field through activities, and the French Club where we teach the culture to students, which is very fun at NDA.

Emma's family has greatly shaped her as a person because they are so close together. It has taught her what to prioritize the most in life. Her high school experience has been greatly influential. She also has learned time management skills, knowledge, and social skills.

This year, she is the most excited to go to New York City for Christmas, since she has never been there and it looks so pretty around this time. Emma is looking forward to having fun with her friends and family, as it is her last year being home and close to everyone.
